MAKE DECISIONS WITH CONFIDENCE

Our view of the world is determined by our individual belief systems. In fact, our worlds are a projection of our belief systems. Many people live in a world which they take little effort to re-shape with their own energy. Decisions made are on auto-pilot conditioned by society's incredible power to influence how you think, mostly employing fear concepts. Analyze today's television news program or even the advertising in the breaks. Score it for positive or negative energy.

Technology is exacerbating the ability of a central power to condition and control the masses. In the next generation many individuals will be like drones, unaware of their journey or target destination, just programmed to think and act as directed in a cyber-reality.

“Technology is exacerbating the ability of a central power to condition and control the masses.”

Companies like Google are gradually taking control of your daily habits, preferences and lifestyle. See how Facebook is building a world of competing narcissists, individuals desperate for attention in a ‘selfy’ world. Not that technology is to blame in and of itself. We, as individuals, choose to make our worlds as we want them. Just as a nation gets the government it deserves, we individually are responsible for the worlds we live in.

It is the encouragement of this article that you make your decisions with more confidence, that is, with the conscious individual awareness that your decisions are positive with unrestrainable positive outcomes. Think for yourself and create an alternative reality.

“Whether your dreams are of a relationship, a family, a home or any other investment, you have the power to make it happen.”

Instead of subscribing to fear-based mass consciousness, stand apart and decide where you want to go. You will be amazed how the universe will align to fulfill your expectations. Whether your dreams are of a relationship, a family, a home or any other investment, you have the power to make it happen.

Most folks do not have the college education that would enable them to follow the specific mathematical calculations of a particle physicist, but it is the conclusion of those dedicated scientists that all visible matter is comprised of energy. You yourself consist of an energy field. That energy is best described in its essence as ‘waves’, but the moment scientists experiment to observe those waves of energy, they show up as ‘particles.’

“If you decide with confidence the outcome of your plans, they also will come to pass.”

That is, the material universe you see is merely the focus you individually place, as consciousness, on the energy that comprises all things. Your world is a holographic projection of your mind. Nothing exists outside of your ‘thought’ about it.

What this means is that even in the smallest of your life's transactions such as purchasing a home, relocating, getting married - you alone determine the outcome. If you allow yourself to be controlled by the matrix of fear-based mass consciousness, you will materialize those fears. If you decide with confidence the outcome of your plans, they also will come to pass.

The quantum soup of creative possibilities is available, not only to quantum physicists, but to all. Choose the ingredients of your life. Make the soup you love and share it with friends.
